The county superintendents finished their meeting yesterday morning by the election of the following officers: President-George R. Wilson, of Dubois First Vice President-G. M. Naber, of Whitley county. Second Vice President-M. N. Johnson, of Madison county.

Secretary-I. O. Harrison, of Rush-county.

Assistant Secretary-J. D. Hostetter, of

A misstatement was made in vesterday's Sentinel and repeated in yesterday's News to the effect that the association had in-structed its legislative committee to ask for the restoration of the old school levy in force before the tax law of 1891 so largely increased the appraisement. A sugges-tion was made to this effect by Mr. Cogswell, but no action was taken upon it and it was not even discussed.

The room at 3 Wood street, occupied by Willie Harris, the boy who stole the baseball tickets from the office in the When building, was searched yesterday by detectives. FORECLOSURE DEFERRED

THE BONDHOLDERS OF THE CLOVER LEAF ROAD CANNOT AGREE.

Sunday Excursions Popular-Earning Exhibit of the Big Four for May and Since July 1, 1895.

An attorney interested in the legal standing of the Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City says it is not probable that any attempt will now be made to reorganize the company until next fall. The first mortgage bondholders attempted to secure a decree of foreclosure this month, but were unsuccessful, and the matter has gone over till October. Interests in the road are in disagreement as to a reorganization. The first mortgage bondholders insist upon a heavy assessment on both the preferred and common stock, but are willing to give up 20 per cent. back interest. The preferred stockholders have appealed from Judge Ricks's decision to the effect that the preferred stock did not constitute a lien on this property. Stock certificates, unless the instrument securing the lien is duly recorded, simply make the holder an owner of the property subject to the lien of creditors. The wording of the preferred stock reads: "This stock constitutes a lien upon the property and net earnings of the company next after the company's first mortgage." Preferred stockholders state that unless this stock constituted a lien on the property they never would have given up their interest-bearing bonds in the roads which went to make up the Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City road at the time of its organization in 1886, which bonds at the time were turned into preferred stock. Never in the history of the road have its earnings been as satisfactory, and the judges and owners of the property speak in very complimentary terms of the manner in which the road has been handled since R. B. F. Peirce was appointed re-

Winder factions of the Seaboard Air-line has been renewed. Three years ago the Hoffman faction crowded out the Winder bonds under a plan for the reorganization party, and the Hoffman party reorganized of the company. The committee is to be the entire management, bringing E. St. John from the Chicago & Rock Island to have been deposited. manage the affairs of the Seaboard Airline, and that he has done much to bring the road to the front must be admitted by the disgruntled faction. It is stated that interesting developments will grow out of the suit that ex-General Manager Winder. of the Seaboard Air-line has instituted against President Hoffman, Vice President and General Manager St. John and other officials of the road. It is stated that a good deal of personal feeling is behind the suit, and it is claimed that a personal encounter may grow out of the action, so bitter is the feeling between the factions. When President Hoffman brought Vice President St. John from the West to take charge of the operating department of the harge of the operating department of the seaboard Air-line it was understood that it meant the first step toward reorganizing the personnel of that property. The Win-der interests were soon superseded and a factional fight was inaugurated. President Hoffman and the directors voted to allow Mr. Winder, the plaintiff in the suit for $100,000 damages for libel, to draw his salary for a long period of time, although he had been relieved from his duties as general manager. Mr. Winder claims that he never drew his salary, and as a result considerable bitter feeling has been engendered. The present Seaboard management dered. The present Seaboard management has encountered much opposition of late on the part of the Winder interests, and it is not regarded as surprising that the antagonism has resulted in legal proceed-

Homeseekers' Excursions. A special meeting of the Western Pasenger Association has been called for at Chicago to-day to consider the question of running home-seekers' excursions to transnissouri territory. The meeting is made necessary by the demand of the Burlington for permission to run the excursions. Some time, ago the Missouri Pacific received permission from the chairman to un home-seekers' excursions to the Southwestern territory of the association, but when the Burlington made its application the chairman concluded that he had been a trifle too hasty in granting the permission to the Missouri Pacific and said that he would prefer that the lines of the Western Association pass on the matter be-fore he took similar action in behalf of any other road. The Burlington declared that it was necessary for it to run the excursions in order to protect to trans-missouri lines and it has given notice that it will run excursions independently of what action is taken by other roads.

The competitors of the Burlington will probably take action at the meeting to-Transmissouri lines have decided that they will make a rate of one fare for the round trip for all Fourth of July excursions in their territory. Tickets will be sold July 3 and 4 and the final return limit will be July 6. The Western roads have voted down proposition to refrain from using exchange orders in connection with the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at Washington. Exchange orders will be as extensively used in the handling of this traffic as they have ever been.

Sunday Excursio

Sunday excursions are popular. Even in New England the roads have commenced running Sunday excursion trains. One of the singular features of the matter is that the Indianapolis roads, the Lake Erie & Western leading, were first to introduce the making of a one-fare round-trip rate between stations on Sunday; a little later they inaugurated the cheap Sunday excur-sions, and apparently this summer more sions, and apparently this summer more of these trains are being run than ever before. The Lake Shore and the Northwestern lines are doing a good deal of this business, and every road running into St. Louis is running Sunday cheap excursion trains. The Big Four, the Cincinnati. Hamilton & Dayton, the Pennsylvania lines and the Monon are each Sunday running from two to six trains of this character and swelling their earnings a few thousand dolors. welling their earnings a few thousand dollars a week.

The business of North Indianapolis has become of such importance that the Big Four company has decided to establish a freight station there and appoint an agent and the Big Four is now getting the material on the ground to put in two more switches to North Indianapolis industries.

Since the announcement that Edwin W. Winter, general manager of the Chicago.
St. Paul & Omaha road, would become president of the reorganized Northern Pacific Railroad Company, speculation has been rife as to the personality of Mr. Winter's successor. The belief is common among railway men in Omaha that Horace among railway men in Omaha that Horace G. Burt at present general manager of the Fremont Elkhorn & Missouri Valley road at Omaha will succeed Winters. This belief is strengthened by reports from St. Paul, the headquarters of the road, that such a promotion is an assured fact. It is stated that Winters will go with the North-ern Pacific on July 1 and that then Mr. Burt will remove from Omaha to St. Paul. General Manager Hays, of the Grand Trunk, denies the authenticity of the in-terview with Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of that company, telegraphed from Chicago, in which he was represented as threatening to make trouble for the Joint Traffic Association. This denial is in accord with the intelligent opinion of rail-way officials who claim that all such rumors tend to strengthen the Joint Traf-fic Association rather than weaken it. "The fact is," said a president who was one of the originators of the association, "it has come to stay, and the sooner rate-cutting lines and rate-cutting railway managers and their subordinate officials get into line and help make it a success the better will it be for them in the end."

Wm. Garstang, superintendent of motive power of the Big Four lines, who attended the master car builders' convention at Saratoga this week, has returned. He states that the new interchange agreement was, after a general discussion, unanimously adopted. He says the purpose of the agreement is to simplify the inspection in inspecting cars for safety of lading and trainmen; to avoid great delays to freight by rapid inspection; to avoid unnecessary by rapid inspection; to avoid unnecessary transfer of freight; to discontinue the practice of cutting out cars from trains unnecessarily, or setting back cars to deliverng yards; to make owners responsible for additional defects over regular rules, and numerous other features unnecessary to mention. To those familiar with every-day interchange of cars, the practical working of this agreement has demonstrated that it has not only men the expectations of the original promoters, but it has in ad-dition thereto reduced the cost of inspection to a great many companies, and in numerous ways convinced the officials that it would not be good practice to cur-tail any of its provisions.

Feeble-Minded Boy Awaiting Friends. Willie Saylor, a boy about fourteen years old, is waiting at the police station for his friends. He has been an inmate of the Home for Feeble-minded Youth at Fort Wayne until a few days ago, when money was received from his sister, who also instructed the officers of the institution to send him to this city. The letter from the boy's sister stated that she would meet him at the Union Station. She failed to do so, and the boy was taken to the pelice station. He does not know the address of his mother and sister, but says they live here. His mother's name is Samantha Saylor.

REVIEW OF THE TEXTS AND TEACH-INGS OF PAST TWELVE WEEKS.

Series of Lessons Covering the Most Interesting Portion of the Earthly Career of Jesus.

By Rev. JAMES E. GILBERT. Secretary of the American Society of Re ligious Education.

INTRODUCTION. - Every man acquires enduring fame is the product of some masterful purpose (Phil. iii, the result of a struggle after some ideal. Hence, in the of any historic character it is portant to determine the ruling motive. If that is pure and exalted the unanimous verdict of mankind places the person among the good. If the motive is held tenaciously and pursued vigorously until a measure of success is attained, the man is accounted great. By such considerations peculiar force to the life of Christ. His His thoughts, governed all His actions, apart from men as supremely good and su-one incomparable personality. PERIOD.-Our lessons for the past quarter treat select passages from the most interesting section of the life of Jesus, becontinuing to the close of His earthly career, a period of about six months. During that time His high purpose appears as never before. While alone with the disciples, journeying in Berea or Judea, or resting in some quiet retreat; while ministering to the eager throng of the needy and unfortunate; while confronted by scribes and Pharisees or arraigned before the Jewish and Roman tribunals; while hanging on the Savior. His teachings were per- soreness in any part of the body. vaded by the spirit of one who desired to make men wise and good. His deeds were on the elevated plane of mercy and helpfulness, designed to inspire confidence in His ability and to awaken resolves for a better life. Viewed from such a standpoint these six months in the life of Jesus raise Him into matchless sublimity and glorify Him in the eyes of all men. PARABLES.-The teachings of Jesus in this period were almost exclusively parabolic in form. The six parables which we have studied-the great supper, the prodigal son, the rich man and Lazarus, the I harisee and the publican, the pounds and the vineyard—are esteemed by critics as literary gems. They all have a double bearing and value. Evidently they were designed at the time to exhibit the failure of the Jewish church, the consequences of that failure, and God's impending judgments. They have also a permanent, and to us, more interesting aspect. They contain fundamental truths of universal application. New and appropriate titles might be given thus: "The Saved Soul's Rich Repast," "Departure from God and the Mode of Return," "The Danger of Wealth and the Possibility of Poverty," "The Disgusting Egotism of Self-righteousness and the Beauty of Humility and Confession." "The Beauty of Humility and Confession," "The Responsibility for God's Gifts," "The Re-ward of Faithful Service and the Penalty or Neglect of Trust."

SPIRITUALITY.—The careful student SPIRITUALITY.—The careful student must have observed that during this period Jesus was more profoundly spiritual. It is not intended to intimate that at any prior time He was worldly or carnal, but that as He advanced in His career there was an increasing manifestation of that which was in Him from the beginning; the divinity shown out more brilliantly through the humanity in which that divinity tabernacied. (Heb. ii, 16.) There was reason for this The incarnation was a humiliation for man's sake. He came to the lower plane of our nature that He might be touched and He gradually ascended to the higher planes that He might draw men after Him. There are passages in the narrative that planes that He might draw men after Him. There are passages in the narrative that transcend the earthly and the temporal. There are sentences in His addresses that bear a peculiar luster such that one wonders that they were ever uttered by mortal lips. What is true of His words and deeds is also true of His bodily form. Transfigured on the mountain, it terrified the soldiers in the garden and finally assumed a spiritual state, appearing, disappearing. (Luke xxiv, 31), and finally departing.

AMBITION.-The revelation of the real

Christ was accompanied by a revelation of human nature. The influence of His teaching. His work. His personality upon the disciples was just the opposite of what was intended. As He became more wonderful in their sight they realized more fully the advantage of association with Him. They advantage of association with Him. They perceived that He was able to do great things for them and they became eager for that which He had to bestow. Their ambition increased, and during the quarter several exhibitions of it have appeared. On the journey toward Jerusalem James and John uniting with their mother, urged Jesus to grant them positions of honor one on His right and the other on His left hand in His kingdom. At this request the ten were greatly offended, showing that they cherished the same spirit of preferment. Later in the upper room there was a sharp contention to determine who should be greatest in the kingdom. These disciples were typical men. It is exceedingly difficult to subdue in the human heart aspirations would befall Jerusalem. He warned and to subdue in the human heart aspirations for place and power. These disclosures of the infirmities of the apostles only serve to increase the luster of their Master who rises above them in superhuman dignity.

HATRED.—The brilliancy of Christ's character and the influence of His words and work upon the people produce a far different effect upon the chief priests and the scribes. At first it awakened their envy and that quickly degenerated into enmity, which increased with His fame and the manifestations of His glory. In the latter portion of His ministry that hatred became extremely bitter and violent, exceeding all limits. In one of our lessons there was a display of hierarchical madness and fury most shocking to contemplate there was a display of hierarchical madness and fury most shocking to contemplate, having no parallel in the annals of bigotry and persecution. The tragedy of Calvary is an exhibition of the deep depravity of the human heart. But over against it appears the patient Savior praying for His enemies, the only one unmoved in the tumult of the hour. No one possessing His power could have submitted so calmly to insult and to death, unless in acting the part of a redeemer giving his life a ransom. DESTRUCTION .- One lesson of the quarsome that this is opposed to the spirit of a Savior. But it must be remembered that Jesus is not vindictive, but predictive in that passage. He foretells the doom of a city that had long been the capital of the chosen people. Moreover, while the destruction was in one sense retributive, it was in a higher sense preparatory. As one may demolish an old building to make room for a better, so the city must be biotted out that the redeeming forces to be employed in the world might have larger and better fields for activities as thought as the disappears these are the closing scenes of the wonderful career of the glorious Christ, but the memory of those last hours of the son of God among men fills every heart with hope and adoring praise.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON MUNYON'S CHALLENGE

BOLD PROPOSITION TO THE MAN-AGER OF THE SENTINEL.

Ten Thousand Trial Bottles of Munyon's Guaranteed Rheumatism and Dyspepsia Cure Will Be Given Away for Two Days at The Sentinel Office, Beginning on Next Monday, June 29, from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

To the Manager Indianapolis Sentinel-Having discovered a positive and speedy cure for rheumatism, I address you in the hope that you will give publicity to my claim. I am well aware that in making the bold assertion that I have discovered a positive cure for rhoumatism there will rise a strong doubt in the minds of the public as to the truth of this statement, and that a large majority of the people will class this new discovery with the Koch lymph failure and the Brown-Sequard elixir-of-life delu-

It is to overcome this prejudice that I invoke the aid of your paper. I court the all find their rightful places in the estimate fullest investigation under your direction of posterity. These statements apply with and personal supervision. I would suggest that the fairest and surest way to test the mission was to save men from their sins efficacy of this remedy would be for this (Matt. 1, 21), than which there could be no company to send 10,000 trial bottles to the holier or higher. That mission filled all Sentinel office, there to be given out absolutely free to all persons afflicted with subordinated all His desires, setting Him | rheumatism; that the name and address of each person who accepts the remedy be enpremely great, unifying all His traits in | tered in a book and at the end of one week a reporter be detailed to interview the parties who have taken the medicine, and that the results of each case be published in the Sentinel. By this means there can be no ginning in the autumn of the year 29, and deception or fraud; and the value of the remedy will stand or fall upon the testimony of those who have tried it.

Improbable as this statement may seem to you or to those who have doctored for many years with the most skilled physicians without benefit, yet I affirm and am prepared to prove by over 60,000 people whom we have cured that these remedle will cure dyspepsia and acute or muscular rheumatism in from one to five days. It the cross or appearing after the resurrec- never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains tion-in every instance He was manifested in the arms, sides, legs, back or breast, or

It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, sciatica, lumbago, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back and all pains in the hips and loins. It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used. We do not claim that our rheumatic cure will cure rheumatism when the limbs are twisted out of shape, or where the disease is complicated by a scrofulous diathesis, but by careful record we find that this rem edy fails to cure only about 5 per cent. of the cases in which it has been tried.

We do not claim, however, that our dyspepsia cure will cure all cases of dyspepsis no matter how severe or of how long stand-

One of the strongest recommendations for these remedies is that they are absolutely harmless, and that a person can take the whole contents of a bottle without the slightest ill effects. Unlike the medicin used in ordinary practice for the cure of dyspepsia and rheumatism, such as iodide of potash and salicylic acid, which irritate the stomach and kidneys and disorganize the whole system, without effecting a cure, these remedies act as a strong tonic, and are invaluable in building up the weak and debilitated. Believing that there is no cause so holy and inspiring, no vocation so lofty and ennobling, nothing so sure of man's gratitude and God's blessing as an honest effort to relieve suffering humanity, I beg to remain, yours truly, JAMES M. MUNYON. Indianapolis, Ind., June 19, 1896.

Prof. James M. Munyon, President Munyon Homeopathic Remedy Co.: Dear Sir-The Indianapolis Sentinel accepts your above proposition and gives you the privilege of using its office for the distribution of 10,000 vials of your remedies in the interest of humanity, as suggested in your favor of June 17. The Sentinel will from time to time investigate any facts brought to its notice regarding your discovery. Very respect fully, INDIANAPOLIS SENTINEL CO. COMFORT.—The first and the last lesson of the quarter pertained to the resurrection of Jesus, a good beginning and a good ending. The one showed how He came out of the sepulchre, the other how the apostles received Him. Here are two great thoughts—the tomb is empty, the crucifled Savior is restored to His followers. Both thoughts are full of comfort to the believer. Jesus is mightler than the grave; He lives to bless them who trust Him. The life of Jesus on earth does not terminate in defeat and death, but in victory and life. The uplifted hands of blessing, the parted clouds on Olivet's brow, the ascending form in the presence of worshiping disciples, the upward yearning look as He disappears into the heavens from which He came-
